Great Royal of Great Britain, and wishes [here] personally to see you.

Ourselves, having reverently received the decree of Heaven [to regard all white and without as brethren], we have accordingly made friendly relations with them, and have [hereby] established amicable relations with the various states [in order to enduringly strengthen amicable relations with them]. Now [hereby] we have appointed Mr. Li Hongzhang, who is residing at Peking as Minister for the United States, an officer of integrity, ability and wisdom, and one who has been long acquainted with us and other nations, to manage all affairs pertaining to our two Kingdoms, one can be assured that we shall never have anything straight or crooked.

And since here, we have appointed two officers to accompany him, namely, Mr. Chen Sui-chang, the second viceroy, Chikiang and Sun-ki-shan, to accompany him to Great Britain, and Mr. Wang Hsiang-shan designated as his assistants, both of whom are distinguished as high ministers with important offices, so that they may further to prove [Our] sincere intentions and good faith towards you.

We know these three ministers to be loyal, intelligent, sincere and sedulous, and are sure that they will do their utmost to establish peace as to be mutually beneficial, and [therefore] hope that sincere confidence may be expressed in them, and that the establishment of a higher friendly accord may perpetually assure to us both a perfect peace, which [We think] will be a cause of great joy.

The Huangdi of China to the Ruler of England.

We wish to reverence arid ourselves of the Divine Countenance; foreigners and Chinese are all united under the same heaven, and are full of the perpetuation of peace with friendly nations. In the belief that he will explain our feelings to your Majesty, we have appointed the Minister of the U.S. of America, Anson Burlingame, a man of worth, capacity and intelligence, to go to England, and to negotiate between foreigners and Chinese, to manage matters affecting the interests of the two countries.

We also, despite honest officers of the second rank, have appointed Mr. Li Hongzhang, to accompany him to England, to converse with him, and as Ministers Extraordinary; thus giving proof of our sincerity and good faith.

We have full confidence in his virtues, ability and discretion of the three ministers, and are sure that they will do their utmost to establish peace satisfactorily; and, we earnestly hope that, without occasion, full faith may be placed in them, and that the establishment of a permanent, all thus reaping the advantages of tranquility—a result that we think, with certain confidence, will be a cause of great joy.

Lung chih, 8th year, 12th month, 6th day.

The Majesty the Emperor of China to H.M., the Queen of England, greeting:

In virtue of the Commission we have reverently received from Heaven, we have caused all nations as equal [Him one family], therefore, have we endeavored to establish friendly relations, and being desirous of cultivating the closest and most intimate relations with all nations, we have had frequent negotiations of peace with them. We have made much progress in this respect, and have now appointed the U.S. Minister in our Capital a man of ability and wisdom, in whom from his intimate acquaintance with us, and his knowledge of the wishes of the two Countries, we have every confidence in the exponent of Our ideas.

Moreover, we have also commissioned two officers of the second grade Club, named Seng-chin-ku to accompany Mr. Burlingame to England.

The special selection by us of these officers is to be our minister in this important matter, is a proof of our sincere desire for mutual unity.

We have no doubt that our alliance, goodwill, honesty and good character of these three ministers, and believe them certainly capable of winning satisfactorily the business committed to them.

Hence we earnestly desire that unreserved evidence should be given to them, that thereby our relations of unity may be permanently established, and both nations enjoy mutual peace (good will), a result which we are certain will be most gratifying.

This image appears to be a high-contrast, black and white scan of a vertical strip of material, possibly a book binding or a piece of fabric. The strip is characterized by a dark, textured background on the right and a lighter, textured background on the left. The central area shows a vertical line or crease, suggesting a fold or a joint. The overall appearance is grainy and abstract, with no discernible text or figures.

This image shows a vertical strip of material, likely a book binding or a piece of fabric, with a dark, textured background on the right and a lighter, textured background on the left. The strip itself is dark and has a rough, fibrous texture. There are some lighter, irregular patches on the dark strip, possibly due to wear or damage. The overall image is high-contrast and grainy, with a lot of noise and artifacts.

This image shows a vertical strip of a document, possibly a page from a book or manuscript. The strip is heavily textured and appears to be a close-up of the binding or edge of the page, with visible lines and shadows suggesting depth and wear. The image is high-contrast, with a bright white background on the left and a dark, almost black, background on the right. The central strip is filled with intricate, dark, and somewhat chaotic patterns, likely representing the texture of the paper or the binding material. There are no discernible text or figures within this strip.
